

Techniques of dissection are illustrated and described in this book which is aimed at both lecturers and students on anatomy courses. It is designed for use in the dissecting room and shows the dissector how to locate and prepare the dissection. Instructions on the study of the preparation are then given for the benefit of the rest of the group. Line drawings accompany the photographs to lend further clarity to the instructions. Published simultaneously with the 2nd edition of A Colour Atlas of Human Anatomy, (McMinn) the two works are cross-referenced throughout.
